Christmas Message to All Traffic Officers

On behalf of all traffic authorities in the country, the Road Traffic Management Corporation would like to send warm Christmas greetings to traffic officers who are working during this festive season.

We thank you for your commitment and dedication to making our roads safer. While other people will be relaxing with their families and loved ones, you have chosen to sacrifice the joy of Christmas in order to save lives.

This is the supreme sacrifice you have made on behalf of our country and humanity. We see the success of your efforts in the numbers of vehicles that have already been stopped and arrests already made since the start of our festive season road safety programme.

We assure you of our ongoing support in all your endeavours. We pledge to work with you to win public respect for your profession and to root out those who sully the image of the traffic fraternity through their unethical conduct, unprofessionalism and laziness.

We urge you to implement the law without fear, favour or prejudice. Let everyone feel your presence and close the space for delinquent behavior on our roads.

We wish you a Merry Christmas and prosperous New Year.
