ONLINE VEHICLE RENEWAL SHOWS PHENOMENAL GROWTH

Vehicle owners are abandoning long queues at vehicle licensing centres in ever increasing numbers and opting to renew their vehicle licences online to save time.

An analysis of the Road Traffic Management Corporation (RTMC) online platform, online.natis, shows that more than 2,5 million vehicle owners have opted for the convenience of the online platform since its launch in 2022.

Monthly average online renewals on the natis platform have increased from 44 802 in August 2022 to 222 606 last month with an average daily renewal of 7 181.

To access the service which offers motorists the convenience of renewing the vehicle licence from the comfort of their homes or offices, vehicle owners must register their profile on online.natis.gov.za. This will enable them to update their contact details namely cellphone numbers and email address.

Registered vehicle owners are entitled to receive renewal notices and can pay AARTO enforcement orders online while renewing their vehicle licences. More than 5 million vehicle licence renewal notices have been sent out since the beginning of the year.

The service is now also available through participating banks such as First National Bank, Capitec and Nedbank.

The RTMC strives to deliver vehicle licences with three to five days and has been able to achieve this target 97% of the time.
